To whom it may concern

I have been familiar with the Project group of companies since 2003. Malco Flooring has had prior business dealings with their air conditioning company, Project Air Conditioning. The group occupy the same street from which my business trades. I was interested in reducing electricity costs at our premises and decided to listen to their advice on a solar system for my building.

Gary Dunn, the Project GreenPower consultant was very informative and advised me on the panel capacity requirements and inverter for the office and warehouse.

After an approval process by Western Power and local council the Project GreenPower installation team installed the system in a very prompt and professional manner.

I have no hesitation in recommending Project GreenPower for off grid solar power systems this company designs, supplies and installs.

Yours sincerely
